HOUSE, FARM AND GARDEN.

Fig Pudding.

A fig pudding made from this receipt in not only delicious, but furnishes still another way in which the frugal housewife may use her crumbs of bread to a good advantage.

Hens' Nests on the Ground.

The good luck in hatching eggs of a hen that steals her nest in the field, suggested the idea of placing earth in a box, before setting hens in them.

Iron as a Fertilizer.

An exchange says: "The scales which fly off from iron being worked at forges, iron trimmings, filings or other ferruginous material, if worked into the soil about fruit trees, or the more minute particles spread thinly on the lawn, mixed with the earth of flower beds or in pots, are most valuable.

Clover as a Fertilizer.

When clover is wanted to enrich the soil for a succeeding crop, it is better to let it mature rather than cut it early.

Two Leipzig chemists have devised a process for obtaining sugar in a permanently liquid form. This result is said to be effected by adding to a purified sugar solution a small quantity of citric acid, which combines with the sugar and deprives it of its tendency to crystallize.

Some experiments by M. Gautier appear to prove that human saliva possesses, in a milder degree, the same poisonous property as that of serpents. The human saliva injected under the skin of a bird caused death, with symptoms closely resembling those resulting from serpent bites.

A new theory of the so called fascination of birds by snakes is that the bird mistakes the snake's tongue, which the reptile keeps in rapid and constant motion, for a lively worm, and watches it intently with the anticipation of devouring it.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since, a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty.

To Restore Rusty Black Goods.

A teaspoonful of spirits of ammonia added to the rinse water, will make rusty black goods look as good as new.

The easiest method of removing rust from iron is by rubbing it with a rag dipped in oil of tartar. The rust will disappear immediately.

Soaking calico, just previous to the first washing, in a strong solution of either salt or alum is excellent to preserve the color.

Lemon juice and glycerine will cleanse and soften the hands.

Wagon spokes made of yellow locust will outlast two sets of felloes.
